

Art Palette – 15th May 2020

Online Art Class Exhibition

The Spring Class Exhibition has been posted on the class WhatsApp groups; here are two works chosen from the popular watercolour classes:

Gail's by Pauline Wooldridge

The Sun Inn by Adrian Burn

Online Summer Term Art Classes

The summer term's art classes are all taking place now, online, live and interactive, with Kathy and Charles as our professional tutors.

This is one of three weekly watercolour classes.

Here are some examples of paintings from classes in the last two weeks

Additional five-week summer term

The online classes are a huge success. Our professional tutors are improving everyone's art skills while also allowing students to interact socially with one another.

As a result of their success we have added an additional 5-week summer term starting on Wednesday the 20th May.

There are still one or two places left in acrylics on Friday afternoon and life drawing on Wednesday morning; details of the classes can be found here on the Art Group page of the Member's website

The extra five classes cost £70 for the term; if you are not an Art Group member then you will also need to join.

If you are interested in joining the acrylics or life drawing class then please email us by midday on Friday the 15th May at artgroup@roehamptonclub.co.uk telling us

Your name

Which class you are interested in

Your phone number

Whether you are an art group member

We will then get back to you once we have assessed the student numbers in each class

Getty Museum Challenge

The Getty Museum issued a challenge to recreate a famous artwork using people you are locked down with and three household items.

Here are two fantastic recreations by Roehampton Club Member Fiona Love and her children Flora and Tabitha Miller

Great imaginative artwork!
